According to the FLDOE population estimates age groups 20-30 and 40-60 are expected to decline for the next 5 years in Volusia County. It appears the population in Volusia County is growing older with increases projected for individuals over the age of 60.