L. Gale Lemerand Center for Entrepreneurship presents

19 Essential Secrets of Entrepreneurship

Cameron Johnson

Cameron Johnson started his first business at the age of nine and before graduating high school, he was recognized as one of the most successful young entrepreneurs in the world. As a teenager he started a dozen profitable businesses; at 15 he became the youngest American appointed to the board of a Tokyo-based company; and as a college freshman, he started CertificateSwap.com, an online marketplace for gift cards, which was a runaway success and for which he was offered $10 million in venture capital.

“True prosperity isn’t something you take from the world: it’s something you share with the world.” -Cameron Johnson

As one of the most well-known and successful young entrepreneurs in the world, Johnson has been a Keynote Speaker at countless events and seminars. He speaks on a variety of topics including entrepreneurship, technology, and frequently the economy. Whether he’s speaking to a corporate audience or a crowd of teenagers or college students, he delivers a well-targeted message. He has shared the stage at various events with successful entrepreneurs and authors including Michael Dell, Richard Branson, T. Harv Eker, Brian Tracy, David Bach, David Allen, Tim Ferriss and numerous others.
